Spector CNE Investigator

The World's Best Selling Employee Investigation Software

Investigate Employees YOU SUSPECT of PC and Internet Abuse

Every Company has Employees who Abuse the Internet

Almost every company in the world has employees who abuse the Internet, some of whom spend hours per day surfing news, shopping, sports, gambling and sex sites. Others leak confidential information, engage in personal email and chats, download software and music illegally, hog network bandwidth or harass coworkers.

This abuse by employees is costing their companies huge amounts of money in lost productivity alone. For example, a company with just ten employees who each waste an hour a day on the Internet is losing $50,000 per year in lost productivity.

But consider this: If you investigate just ONE EMPLOYEE and find that your suspicions about bad behavior are correct, you will have easily paid for Spector CNE Investigator many times over.

What Makes Spector CNE Investigator a Must-Have Tool for Any Company of Any Size?

Spector CNE Investigator has become the world's leading investigation tool for businesses because it records everything an employee does on the computer and on the Internet, and because it has been selected by the experts as Best in Class. Spector CNE Investigator records all instant messages, chat conversations, emails sent and received, web sites visited, programs run, network bandwidth, files downloaded, files copied to removable media, and even keystrokes typed.

In addition, Spector CNE Investigator takes screen snapshots to create the equivalent of a digital surveillance tape, so you can see the EXACT sequence of everything your employees are doing, step by step.

This detailed recorded information is automatically organized for easy analysis and reporting, making investigations thorough, yet fast and simple, providing you with all the evidence you need to prove guilt or innocence.

Further, when employees find out you have a sure-fire way of detecting unacceptable activity they will cease to engage in these activities, because there is no better deterrent to bad behavior than the FEAR OF BEING CAUGHT.

You Have the RIGHT TO KNOW

When your employees abuse their PC and Internet privileges, they are essentially stealing from your company. To protect the bottom line, you have the RIGHT to know and the RESPONSIBILITY to correct the problems.
